Southeast News.

This is fair week at both Kennett and Farmington.

A local option election will be held at Kennett November 10.

A farmers institute will be held at Jackson November 1 and 2.

The Cape Girardeau newspapers say record breaking crowds attended the fair there last week.

The Southeast Missouri Medical association will meet at Charleston next Tuesday, October 19.

Charleston Enterprise.

The conductor on the "Cat" passenger Monday evening turned over five cases to Marshal Pottinger charged with drinking on the train. Each entered a plea of guilty before Judge Browning, Tuesday, and was fined $5 and costs, amounting to $17 in each case.

Farmington Times.

John Unfleet of Madison county was shot from ambush September 27 while he was going home from Fredericktown. He is in a very serious condition, as he lay in the road after being shot until he was picked up by a passer-by. No clue to the man who did the shooting.

Jackson Cash-Book.

The case of Mrs. Nora O'Kelley and P. A. Cook against the M. W. A. lodge was compromised one day last week. Tom O'Kelley carried a policy in that order and was killed by the town marshal at Marquand. O'Kelley was resisting arrest and the lodge refused to pay the claim.

Doniphan Prospect-News.

Agent P. J. Burford is authority for the statement that the Doniphan branch road enjoyed the heaviest passenger traffic during the month of September of any month in its history. The sale of tickets from Doniphan station alone during the month amounted to $1,650.00. And the freight business was good, too, both the out and in bound shipments being heavy.

Jackson Cash-Book.

J. C. Russell, editor of the Bernier, Stoddard county, Star, shipped into Jackson last Sunday with Miss Essie Adams of the Cape and procured a marriage license, returned to the Cape and the two young folks were married the same day by Squire E. A. Kage. The bride is the daughter of Park Adams and granddaughter of our old friend, Ben Adams, late of the Cape Democrat.

Taney County Republican.

The other day a man wrote us a letter saying that several years ago he had quit this paper owing quite a good deal on subscription. He said he had lately got religion and wanted to get square. We looked up the old account and sent it to him and Sunday we received a money order for $3.25. Somehow we can't help thinking that the religion that this man got was genuine.

Charleston Enterprise.

The reputation of the average New Madrid man must be poorly, as one young lady of that town, when awakened by the earthquake Monday morning, thought a man was walking very heavily in her room; another was startled by the belief that a burglar—a man—was in the house, and the third thought it was only a young man on his way to bed dropped his beer bottles in the hallway.

Dunklin Democrat.

Prosecuting Attorney Bradley has secured requisitions for the bootleggers at Bertig and has got two of them already. E. H. Grady and Rube Allen. Grady is out under a $5,000 bond, and Allen is in jail, as he failed to fill a $5,000 bond. This is the first instance of a bootlegger being brought back to the state by requisition. But why not? They are criminals as much as any other.

Attorney Bradley is to be commended for his action.

Kivins Herald.

J. H. Fitzwater, who is endowed with considerable inventive genius, has invented a gate for railroad cattle guards. The gate works automatically, opening as a train approaches and closes after the last car has passed. Among Mr. Fitzwater's other inventions is a machine for making "nitters." One of these machines is now in use at Flat River shaft No. 4. It punches four sticks of powder at a time and feeds automatically.

Dunklin Democrat.

Rev. E. J. Woodard, an independent Methodist preacher, who formerly lived at Advance in the northern part of Stoddard county, suicided at Hot Springs last week. After chloroform had failed he shot himself. Rev. Woodard was not thought to have been sound mentally for some time, and labored under the hallucination that at the late sitting of conference he was rejected. He had been very despondent for several days previous to his death.

New Madrid Record.

Some of the finest and most productive farms in New Madrid county today, were in the "swamps," where a "saddle blanket" would mire, 12 or 15 years ago. With 500 miles of dredge boat ditches completed, and 200 more miles under contract and in course of construction, the "swamps" have all gone, and their existence has passed into tradition. There are still thousands of acres which can be purchased at one-third of actual value, and we are constrained to urge the landless among us to acquire a home—a little one of 10 to 20 acres will do much better than none at all.

Dunklin Democrat.

Some other road overseers might get some pointers from Sam Blanton, overseer of district No. 13, west of Holcomb. According to his report, completed this week, he collected in labor in this district $295, including $32 not on the books turned over to him and but two taxpayers on his list went delinquent. He works with the men and does as much as any one while earning his salary as overseer, and makes it a point to say "come on" instead of "go on." But, the compliment is not all with the overseer for he must have a good class of citizens in his district or they would not pay up so promptly. After all, the citizenship has all to do with making a community good or bad.

Dunklin Democrat.

Joe Haggard, who lived on the Horrell farm north of Senath three miles, and who was taken to St. Louis for treatment two weeks ago, came home last Sunday and died Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock. More than a month ago he was salivated with mercury. He continued to get worse until the inside of his mouth and nose was involved and he could not eat anything except such food as was administered in liquid form through a tube. The doctors said that his ailment was black canker. He left a widow and three children. The remains were interred at Senath, Wednesday. A few weeks before his death, a young man named McGuire living close to Mr. Haggard, was also badly salivated and blood poisoning set in and killed him, it is said.

Dr. W. W. Roberts, of Flat River, has secured a patent on an invention for the protection of fruit trees from the frost, and is now making arrangements to have it placed on the market. The device consists of a cover, which can be made of either cloth or paper, which goes over the top of the tree. The cover is supported by a rod which can be fastened to the tree. On the rod are clamped two small lamps, con-abstracted in such a manner that the wind, no matter how strong it may blow, cannot affect them or cause them to go out. These lamps throw off sufficient heat to keep the frost from injuring the fruit. The doctor has already received several attractive offers for the exclusive right of his invention—Elvin Herold. (Dr. Roberts is a brother-in-law of Dr. C. E. Presnell of this city, and he was a citizen of Sedgewickville and vicinity a number of years.)

Tribute to Women

Senator Cavanaugh: It is not the threat and scepter king it is not the dark statesman with his midnight lamp, it is not the warrior grained with smoke and stained with blood—it is the queen of the home who, under God, rules the destinies of this world. There is the center from which radiates the light that never fails. For I say to you the sweetest wisdom of this world is a woman's wisdom, and the purest altar from which human prayer ever went to heaven is a mother's knee.

Want to Forget

If you would increase your happiness and prolong your life, forget your neighbor's faults. Forget all the slander you ever heard. Forget the temptations. Forget the fault-finding, and only remember the good points which make you fond of them. Forget all personal quarrels or histories you may have heard by accident, and which, if repeated, would do a thousand times worse than they really are. Blot out, as far as possible, all the disagreeableness of life; they will come, but will only grow larger when you remember them. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday, start out with a clean sheet today, and write upon it for sweet memory's sake only those things which are lovely and lovable.—Exchange.

Bills vs. Newspaper Advertising

We don't wish to discourage any means of advertising, says J. W. Watkins, editorially, in his paper, the White City (Kan.) Register, but we cannot for the life of us understand why a paper which goes into the majority of the homes tributary to the town where it is published is turned down for bills or circulars. Men of apparent business acumen will sometimes do this. We positively can't understand it. A minute's thought ought to suffice to convince such a person it is a losing proposition.

It is a mistake for a merchant to think that people are dying to read his ads. They are not. Men are not ad. readers to any great extent. But women read the ads, and you must aim to have your ads. reach them. They can see a bargain at a glance, where a man wouldn't recognize one if he met it in the road. Here is where the newspaper ad. scores over bills. Let the average man get an envelope out of the office or box and on opening it find in it a bill and he will want it up and throw it away. The wisdom of his doing so is apparent. If it does reach the house perhaps not more than one member of the family reads the cumbersome thing until it is destroyed. How about the newspaper? It would be a sorry day for any hubby on getting it out of the office or box to wad it up and throw it away. In fact he wouldn't have a disposition to do so. He takes it home, reads the news and the ads, meet his every gaze. He can't get away from them. He reads them purposely or inadvertently. Then the wife, the girls and boys, and the hired help in their turn. But why say more. The newspaper advertising costs less and brings far greater results. It is the dignified way of getting your wants before the people. Any other way is not.

The Bible As A First Aid

At Ellis Island It Is Given To The Foreigners Who Seek New Homes In America

The work of supplying the Bible to the foreigners that knock at our doors for shelter and citizenship is not to be measured by figures or calculations. It is one of the silent influences that tend to build up a nation, says Katherine Glover in THE NEW YORK WOMAN'S MAGAZINE for November. Perhaps many times the gift is neglected, forgotten, but again and again from those that have passed through Ellis Island or those older immigrants that came to Castle Garden there returns some word or message of gratitude for the Book. One man in Nebraska sends an annual subscription to the society in appreciation of a Testament received many years ago when he landed here, an immigrant from Sweden. A Norwegian woman who came recently through Ellis Island sought out the veteran of the Bible society and handed him fifty cents.

"Twenty years ago," she said, "I landed here for the first time, and you gave me a Testament and trusted me to pay for a Bible. I told you I would pay for it some day when I could afford it. I have kept the Testament and Bible all these years and read them faithfully. Now I can pay fifty cents, and I want to do it."

A Swede passed through the island last year to whom the agent of the Bible society offered a Swedish Testament. The foreigner stared at the agent a moment and then asked in English:

"Weren't you here twenty-six years ago? I am sure you are the same man."

When Mr. Jackson told him he had been in the work for thirty years the Swede told him his story.

He had landed at Castle Garden twenty-six years before, and the agent had given him a New Testament. He went west and settled. He read the Testament, and as a result of that reading he became a preacher and for twenty years had been preaching in Colorado. This was his first visit to his mother country, from which he was returning to take up his work again.

Colds on the Chest

Ask your doctor the medical name for a cold on the chest. He will say, "Bronchitis." Ask him if it is ever serious. Lastly, ask him if he prescribes Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for this disease. Keep in close touch with your family physician.

We publish our formulae. We banish alcohol from our medicines. We urge you to consult your doctor.

When you tell your doctor about the bad taste in your mouth, loss of appetite for breakfast, and frequent headaches, and when he sees your coated tongue, he will say, "You are bilious." Ayer's Pills work well in such cases.

Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

CAPE GIRARDEAU is trying hard to put on metropolitan airs. A man was run over by an automobile there the other day.

It does look like Taft's election is going to result as disastrously to the republican party as Cleveland's second election did to the democratic party. Cleveland, it will be remembered, was elected on a tariff reduction issue, but when safely landed in the white house he bargained all about the tariff and called congress together in extra session to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman silver act. The devil went when he did was seen in the congressional elections two years later. Taft promised, and so did the republican platform, that the tariff would be reduced. When safely ensconced in the white house he, too, called congress together in extraordinary session. It was done to raise the tariff instead of lowering it, as promised. He is now running up and down the west trying to hold his party together and prevent just such a disaster as overtook the democratic party as a result of Cleveland's subservience to the bankers of Wall street. Taft's subservience to the protected manufacturers deserves such a rebuke as was dealt the democrats in 1896. —Jackson Cash-Book.

The Adams Telephone company's new station, now finished and located between Adams and Maple Sts., last Saturday and this morning were connected with the city board in the central office building in its new. After Adams, Phoenix and other neighboring towns were connected without difficulty or delay. Frank Buff, St. Louis, a town of 100 in Illinois and Macfield, Ky., were called and there was no trouble connected in making the line work perfectly satisfactory. Several of our people tried the line that evening and others have used it since and all agree it is well placed with the prompt and excellent service rendered. This is the first experience of our town and of humanity with long distance telephone service and it would be superfluous to say they are well pleased with it. The line men are busy this morning putting up poles and wires in town. The poles put up in town last Saturday will be replaced with larger ones—all good cypress—and when it is finished it will stand a number of years. The central office and switchboard, in the upper story of the bank building, is splendidly located and excellently furnished and finished and is as comfortable quarters as could be desired. Mr. Nauder, the manager, is as busy as a bee attending to his employ and seems to be well pleased with the outlook for the system here.

The Other Side

"It's no disgrace to fail if you have done your best," said the philosopher. "That may be so," replied the man who had failed. "But it's pretty tough to have to admit that the best you could do was fail." —Detroit Free Press.
